TABUTA JOHNSON, also known as,
HUMES

Petitioner,

v.

RUSSELL PERRY, et al.,

Respondents.

Case No. 3:19-cv-00018-MMD-CLB

ORDER

I. SUMMARY

This is a habeas corpus action under 28 U.S.C. § 2254. Previously, the Court reviewed the petition (ECF No. 5 (“Petition”)). The Court determined that it was untimely and directed pro se Petitioner Tabuta Johnson to show cause as to why the action should not be dismissed. (ECF No. 7.) Johnson has filed a motion showing cause. (ECF No. 9 (“Motion”).) The Court finds that Johnson has not demonstrated that equitable tolling is warranted and will thus dismisses this action.

II. BACKGROUND

On July 30, 2015, the Nevada Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment of conviction for one count of conspiracy to commit robbery, two counts of robbery, and one count of battery with intent to commit a crime. Johnson v. State, 354 P.2d 667 (Nev. App. 2015). The deadline to file a petition for writ of certiorari to the United States Supreme Court expired on October 28, 2015. See Sup. Ct. R. 13(1).

On August 19, 2016, Johnson filed a petition for writ of habeas corpus in the Nevada Supreme Court. On October 13, 2016, the court denied the petition and told Johnson to file a post-conviction habeas corpus petition in the state district court. A notice in lieu of remittitur issued on November 7, 2016. Johnson v. State, Case No. 71064.<sup>1</sup>

1 On December 3, 2018, Johnson filed a motion in the state district court for the clerk
 2 of that court to verify receipt of the petition that Johnson mailed to the Nevada Supreme
 3 Court. The state district court denied the motion, noting that Johnson had sent the petition
 4 to the Nevada Supreme Court and that the state district court clerk never received the 5 petition. Johnson appealed. The Nevada Supreme Court dismissed the appeal because
 6 it lacked jurisdiction over an appeal from that order. Humes v. State, Case No. 78159.<sup>2</sup>

7 On February 13, 2019, Johnson filed a post-conviction habeas corpus petition in 8 the state district court. The court denied the petition as untimely on January 24, 2020.
 9 Johnson appealed. The Nevada Court of Appeals affirmed on November 23, 2020, and 10 remittitur issued on December 18, 2020. Johnson v. State, Case No. 80648.<sup>3</sup>

11 Johnson dispatched the petition in this action on January 9, 2019. (ECF No. 1-1.)
 12 This Court stayed the action while Johnson litigated his state post-conviction petition to 13 its conclusion. (ECF No. 4.) Upon reopening the action, the Court directed Johnson to 14 show cause as to why the action should not be dismissed as untimely. (ECF No. 7.)

15 III. LEGAL STANDARD

16 The one-year period of limitation of 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1) is subject to equitable 17 tolling. See Holland v. Florida, 560 U.S. 631, 645 (2010). “[A] ‘petitioner’ is ‘entitled to 18 equitable tolling’ only if he shows ‘(1) that he has been pursuing his rights diligently, and 19 (2) that some extraordinary circumstance stood in his way’ and prevented timely filing.”
 20 Id. at 649 (quoting Pace v. DiGuglielmo, 544 U.S. 408, 418 (2005)). Equitable tolling does 21 not stop the limitations clock the way that statutory tolling does. “First, for a litigant to 22 demonstrate ‘he has been pursuing his rights diligently,’ Holland, 560 U.S. at 649 [ . . . ],
 23 and thus satisfies the first element required for equitable tolling, he must show that he 24 has been reasonably diligent in pursuing his rights not only while an impediment to filing caused by an extraordinary circumstance existed, but before and after as well, up to the time of filing his claim in federal court.” Smith v. Davis, 953 F.3d 582, 598-99 (9th Cir.) (en banc), cert. denied, 141 S. Ct. 878 (2020). “[I]t is not enough for a petitioner seeking an exercise of equitable tolling to attempt diligently to remedy his extraordinary circumstances; when free from the extraordinary circumstance, he must also be diligent in actively pursuing his rights.” Id. at 599. “Second, and relatedly, it is only when an extraordinary circumstance prevented a petitioner acting with reasonable diligence from making a timely filing that equitable tolling may be the proper remedy.” Id.

IV. DISCUSSION

A. PETITION IS UNTIMELY

To summarize what this Court determined in its previous order, 295 non-tolled days passed between the finality of Johnson's judgment of conviction on October 28, 2015, and the filing of his habeas corpus petition in the Nevada Supreme Court on August 19, 2016. (ECF No. 7 at 6.) The one-year period of § 2244(d)(1) was tolled while that petition was pending. 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(2); Blair v. Crawford, 275 F.3d 1156 (9th Cir. 2001). The Nevada Supreme Court denied the petition on October 13, 2016. The state habeas corpus proceeding concluded, and tolling under § 2244(d)(2) ended, on November 7, 2016, when the Nevada Supreme Court issued its notice in lieu of remittitur. The one-year period of § 2244(d)(1) expired 71 days later, on Tuesday, January 17, 2017.<sup>4</sup> Johnson dispatched his federal habeas corpus petition to this Court on January 9, 2019, almost two years after the one-year period had expired.

B. STATE HABEAS CORPUS PETITION

In the Petition, Johnson stated, “The court should note that the petitioner (misinformed by the untrained and invincibly hostile and ignorant law library staff of Ely State Prison) put ‘Tracie Linderman’s [sic]’ name above the address ‘200 Lewis Avenue, 2nd Floor, Las Vegas NV 89155.’” (ECF No. 5 at 3.) At the time, Tracie Lindeman was

1 the Clerk of the Nevada Supreme Court. Exhibit 1 of the Petition contains a copy of a
2 certificate of service with the same name and address. (ECF No. 5 at 14.) In the Court's
3 previous order, the Court noted that the Nevada Supreme Court's Las Vegas office
4 shared the same address as the Eighth Judicial District Court when Johnson mailed his
5 state habeas corpus petition, so a petition with Tracie Lindeman's name and that mailing
6 address never would have gone to the Clerk's Office of the Eighth Judicial District Court.
7 (ECF No. 7 at 4-5.)

8 Johnson has attached an exhibit to his Motion that shows those facts are wrong.
9 The Nevada Supreme Court received Johnson's habeas corpus petition on August 19,
10 2016. (ECF No. 5 at 15.) Three days later, on August 22, 2016, Johnson signed and dated 11 a prison legal mail form acknowledging that the petition had been sent to:

12 Supreme Court, Clerk
13 201 N. Carson St Suite 201
14 Carson City, Nevada 89701

15 (ECF No. 9 at 5.) Consequently, on that date, Johnson knew that the petition had been 16 sent not only to the wrong court, but also to the wrong city.

17 Johnson argues that, under state law, the Nevada Supreme Court should have 18 transferred the petition to the Eighth Judicial District Court. A post-conviction habeas 19 corpus petition that challenges the validity of a judgment of conviction and is filed under 20 Chapter 34 of the Nevada Revised Statute must be filed with the clerk of the district court
21 in the county in which the conviction occurred. See NRS § 34.738(1). If such a petition is 22 not filed in the district court for the correct county, then the clerk of the incorrect county
23 must transfer the petition to the clerk of the district court for the correct county. See NRS
24 § 34.738(2). The date of filing of the petition is deemed to be the date that the clerk of the 25 incorrect county received the petition. Id.

26 What Johnson misses is that by sending a habeas corpus petition to the Nevada
27 Supreme Court, Johnson necessarily did not file a post-conviction habeas corpus petition 28 under Chapter 34 of the Nevada Revised Statutes. The Nevada Supreme Court has constitutional jurisdiction to issue a writ of habeas corpus independent of statutory law.

1 See Nev. Const., Art. VI, § 4(1). Section 34.738 does not, and cannot, repeal that
2 constitutional grant of jurisdiction. See Blair v. Crawford, 275 F.3d 1156, 1158-59 (9th Cir.
3 2002) (citing Kussman v. Eighth Jud. Dist. Ct., 612 P.2d 679, 680 (Nev. 1980)
4 (Gunderson, J., dissenting)). In other words, the Nevada Supreme Court was not the 5 incorrect court; it simply declined to exercise its original jurisdiction in favor of the statutory 6 procedure. It was upon Johnson to follow the Nevada Supreme Court's instructions and 7 file a post-conviction habeas corpus petition in the state district court.

8 Ultimately, for the purposes of timeliness of this federal habeas corpus action, it is 9 irrelevant that the state habeas corpus petition went to the Nevada Supreme Court. The 10 time that the state petition was pending in the Nevada Supreme Court did not count
11 toward the one-year period of limitation. See 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(2); Blair, 275 F.3d at 12 1159. Johnson still had 71 days after issuance of the notice in lieu of remittitur to file a 13 federal habeas corpus petition. The Nevada Supreme Court stated in its order denying 14 the state habeas corpus petition that it was sending a copy of the order to Johnson.
15 Johnson v. State, Case No. 71064.<sup>5</sup> Johnson does not argue that he never received that 16 copy. What makes the current federal habeas corpus action untimely is not that the state
17 habeas corpus petition ended up in the Nevada Supreme Court, but that Johnson did not
18 file anything in this Court in the 71 days after those state habeas corpus proceedings 19 concluded.

20 C. EQUITABLE TOLLING IS NOT WARRANTED

21 Johnson does not explicitly argue that the Court should grant him equitable tolling,
22 but the Court will consider it on its own. Equitable tolling is not warranted in this case.
23 First, the Court assumes for the purpose of this order that Johnson believed he sent his 24 state habeas corpus petition to the state district court and not to the Nevada Supreme 25 Court, and such a belief would have led him to not file a federal habeas corpus petition.
26 Even if this was an extraordinary circumstance, it ended quickly. Johnson knew or should 27

28 <sup>5</sup><http://caseinfo.nvsupremecourt.us/public/caseView.do?csIID=40281> (report generated November 8, 2021).

1 have known by August 22, 2016, that the state habeas corpus petition was sent to the 2 Nevada Supreme Court, because Johnson signed the prison's legal mail form showing
3 the Carson City address on that date. If Johnson missed that address on the form, then
4 Johnson knew the state habeas corpus petition went to the Nevada Supreme Court when
5 he received a copy of that court's order denying the petition soon after October 13, 2016.
6 At most, the extraordinary circumstance lasted around two months.

7 Second, Johnson has not acted diligently. As noted above, Johnson still had 71
8 days remaining in the one-year period of limitation to file a federal habeas corpus petition
9 after the state habeas corpus proceedings concluded. Instead, Johnson waited more than 10 two years before commencing this action. That amount of time, without anything pending
11 in the state courts until shortly before Johnson commenced this federal action and without 12 anything else preventing him from litigating, is not diligent. See Smith, 953 F.3d at 598-
13 99. Accordingly, Johnson is not entitled to equitable tolling.

14 Moreover, reasonable jurists would not find the Court's determination to be 15 debatable or wrong, and the Court will not issue a certificate of appealability.

16 V. CONCLUSION

17 It is therefore ordered that Petitioner Tabuta Johnson's motion showing cause
18 (ECF No. 9) is denied.

19 It is further ordered that this action is dismissed with prejudice because it is 20 untimely.

21 The Clerk of Court is directed to enter judgment accordingly and close this action.

22 It is further ordered that a certificate of appealability will not issue.

23 DATED THIS 9th Day of November 2021.
